TRIP DETAILS

Join us on another new tour for us and one that some of you have asked for – a walking tour.

The Federal Hill neighborhood of Providence is one of the city's hottest destinations, and home to some of the best Italian food in the country. This walking tour will give you a smorgasbord of the best bites and drinks, from fine wines to house-made pasta. Come hungry as we will be sampling from five different restaurants and two different wines. Everyone will also get a memento from their time on the hill to take home. The hill was once home to some historic characters who were on the wrong side of the law. Learn about the state vs Patriarca, when a future mayor took on a mob boss; learn about the corruption that brought Rhode Island's banking system to its knees in the early 90s, plus many more scandalous tales.

We will have time after the tour to visit the stores or just enjoy the Federal Hill neighborhood (see the photo above).

Of course, we will have a couple of other stops on our way to Providence today.

Please note: this tour includes a 3½ hour walking tour over uneven sidewalks. The total distance we will cover today is 0.7 miles, with lots of stops to sit and eat during the tour as it is done at a leisurely pace. Yes, there are restrooms at most of our stops. Please be sure to wear comfortable walking shoes. Both Gladys and I have done this walking tour and found it easy to do.
